

Senate Passes Satellite Bill After Battle

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a long countdown, the Senate has finally got the administration's communications satellite bill off the launching pad.

But it left a trail of scorched tempers that seemed certain to have an effect on other legislation in Congress' drive for adjournment.

The Senate passed the measure 66 to 11 Friday after having invoked its anti-filibuster rule for the first time in 35 years in order to get the bill through a barrier of bitter opposition.

The measure is very much like, but not identical with, a bill passed by the House on May 3 by a 354-9 vote.

If the House — now taking an informal recess until Aug. 27 — accepts the Senate version, the legislation will go directly to President Kennedy for his signature.

Should the House, however, insist that a compromise be worked out, the bill would have to come back to the Senate. This would give opponents a chance to mount a new filibuster against it.

The first space-age legislation of its kind, the bill cleared the Senate Friday after proposed amendments had been rejected in whole-sale lots. All 11 votes against it were cast by Democrats.

It provides for the creation of a private, government-regulated, corporation to own and operate the U.S. segment of a global communications system using satellites as relay stations.

Kennedy put it on his "must" list, but a small band of Democratic senators fought the measure. They called it a gigantic giveaway of the taxpayers' investment in space research and said it would create a private monopoly dominated by American Telephone & Telegraph Co. Most of these senators favored government ownership.

Passage was assured once the Senate voted 63 to 27 last Tuesday to invoke an anti-filibuster rule that limited each senator's speaking time from then on to one hour.

Opponents protested to the end that they were being "gagged."

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, who was backed all the way by his Republican counterpart, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, maintained that the bill's foes had been treated fairly.

Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., floor manager of the bill, told the Senate that "I stake my name, my reputation, and everything I have worked for for 55 years" that the bill is not a giveaway.

Sens. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., Wayne Morse, D-Ore., Russell B. Long, D-La., and other opponents just as insistently argued that the bill provided for a giveaway to a private monopoly that, they said, will be dominated by AT&T.

Lashes Out at Trading Stamps

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Ed Wimmer of Washington, public relations executive of the National Federation of Independent Business, said today trading stamp corporations "are the biggest racketeers since Al Capone."

In a speech to the convention of the National Star Route Mail Carriers, Wimmer attacked big business and said no big business or governmental agency can compete with "a real sharp small private business."

He said large chain retail stores "are making suckers of our womenfolk."

He said America must save its independent business or it will never defeat communism.

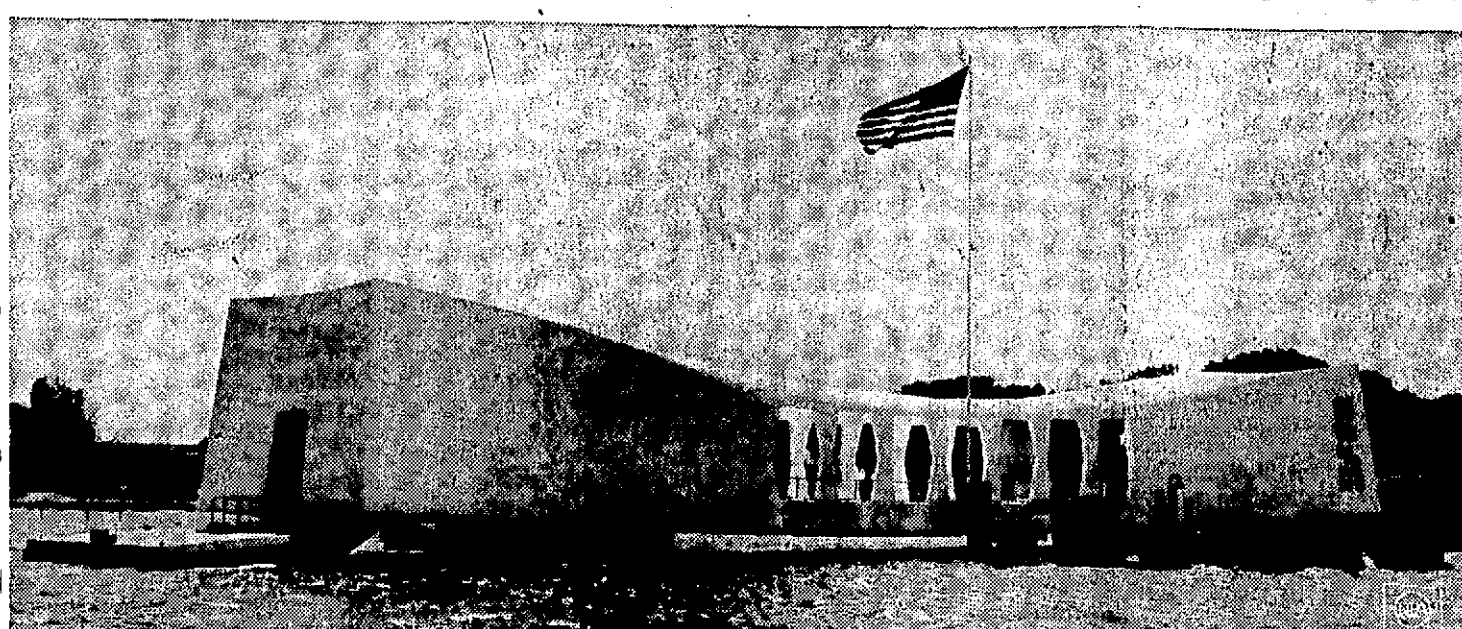

Most of the country's young people don't know what our free enterprise system means, he said. The pillars of our society, Wimmer said, are small farmers, small business and local bank.

He blasted a proposed program to remove one million small farmers into city jobs.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus touched on a wide range of topics in speech to the organization Thursday night.

5 Captives Released by Laos Reds

By ANTOINE YARED

GIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Five Americans and a Filipino held captive for more than a year by pro-Communist forces were released today.

The men, who had all grown beards during their captivity, were cheered by a crowd of several hundred as they emerged from the twin-engine Soviet plane that brought them to Vientiane from Pathet Lao headquarters in the Plaine des Jarres.

Those released were Maj. Lawrence Bailey, Laurel, Md., assistant military attache at the U.S. Embassy in Vientiane; John McMorro, Brecklyn, N. Y.; John Shore Jr., Galloway, Tenn.; Sgt. Orville Ballenger, Columbus, Ohio; NBC cameraman Grant Wolfkill of Shelton, Wash., and Lorenzo Frigillana of the Philippines.

All six appeared to have lost considerable weight.

Wolfkill left soon after for Bangkok en route to the United States. NBC correspondent Jim Robinson, who accompanied him, said Wolfkill would leave Bangkok for New York as soon as possible.

The other Americans and Frigillana were flown to the U.S. Air Force Clark base north of Manila for a medical checkup and interrogation.

Wolfkill, Shore, McMorro and Frigillana looked healthy and in good spirits, but Ballenger was haggard and looked tired.

Bailey had to be helped from the plane to the airport terminal.

An Army doctor, Maj. Estes Cohen, who made a superficial check of the men aboard the plane, said, "They are all okay except Bailey who is pretty weak."

Shore and McMorro were civilian employees of the charter firm Air America, which flew the right-wing Laotian government. Wolfkill was with them when their helicopter crashed behind Red lines May 15, 1961.

Ballenger had been missing since April 22, 1961, when four American military advisers were captured under circumstances the State Department has refused to divulge.

Bailey was captured when his plane crashed March 3, 1961.

Frigillana, an Air America mechanic, disappeared in December 1960, during fighting between neutralist and right-wing forces for control of Vientiane.

Pathet Lao chief Prince Souphannouvong had promised their release following last month's Geneva accord, sanctioning a coalition government for Laos and pledging the country's neutrality.

Arkla to Build Sheridan Plant

SHERIDAN, Ark. (AP) — A $55,000 Reynolds Gas Regulator Division plant will be built at Sheridan by Arkla Industries, Inc., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co.

Arkla and the Grant County Industrial Development Commission announced the project jointly.

The plant will employ 100 persons at the start with an estimated annual payroll of about $600,000.

W. R. Stephens, president of Arkla, said the new plant should begin operations by mid-1963.

J. S. Goodman, executive secretary of the GCIDC, said the plant will be constructed next to Arkla's Meter division office in Sheridan. He said the city competed with two cities in Texas, one in Louisiana, one in Oklahoma and 21 in Arkansas to get the plant.

One of Best Dressed Girls in America, Hope's Sharon Foster, to Spain for Year

By MARY ANITA LASETER

Hope's Beautiful Seniorita

In Madrid, Spain, this school year Arkansas and the entire United States will have a beautiful ambassador-without-portfolio in the person of Miss Sharon Foster.

Recently, she was featured in the August issue of "Glamour" magazine as one of the Ten Best Dressed College Girls in America. A Spanish major, Miss Foster has completed her sophomore year at Randolph Macon Women's College in Lynchburg, Va., and is looking forward to furthering her studies abroad.

The strikingly beautiful brunette is 5' 7 1/2" tall, 20 years of age, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent W. Foster of Hope. In April Miss Foster learned that she was one of ten selected from 200 girls across the United States and Canada for the Best Dressed honor.

During the later part of that month, she went to New York City and was photographed for the August issue. Also, at that time she dismissed any ideas she may have had about being a professional model.

"The hours are long and the work is hard," she said and then added "harder than I thought it would be."

It wasn't all work, though, and as Sharon Foster pursues her studies this fall, she will have fond memories of the past spring. "Glamour" was host for two Broadway plays, "Take Her, She's Mine" starring Art Carney and "No Strings" starring Dianthe Carroll.

Dining at such well-known places as "Sardis," "The Colony," "Trader Vic's," "Quo Vadis," and "The Tower Suite" were memorable occasions, as was having luncheon with Elizabeth Arden, touring Helena Rubenstein's penthouse apartment and meeting executives in the cosmetics and clothing manufacturing fields. Her hair was styled by Mr. Kenneth in New York, and Miss Foster acquired some helpful tips on the use of cosmetics which she can use in everyday life.

On June 5 Sharon Foster and the other Best Dressed College Girls in America were featured in a Fashion Show at Carnegie Hall. They appeared at the beginning and at the end of the show, and professional models were seen during the interim. One look at the lovely example of Arkansas feminine pulchritude should have erased all doubts about finding what is beautiful in our state.

The modest Miss Foster was quick to say that she is not the first Arkansas girl to gain this honor. Just two years ago Miss Laura Hammock of Little Rock, now Mrs. Bernard Hamilton of Virginia, was one of the Ten Best Dressed Girls. She also went to Randolph Macon.

What about Miss Foster's future? As we have mentioned, she plans to study abroad this next school year. She will sail for Madrid on August 21, though going overseas will be a new experience for her, Sharon Foster had a small taste of what living in a Spanish-speaking world will be like when she spent seven weeks last summer in Mexico.

For six weeks she lived in a private home while studying Spanish at the University of Guadalajara. She and Miss Rosamund Sample of El Dorado were the only United States citizens in the home, but three members of the family spoke English. That helped a lot, and she hopes a similar situation will exist in Spain during her stay there.

As you would expect, Mexican speech and Castilian Spanish is not exactly the same. Fortunately, Sharon Foster's Spanish teacher at Randolph Macon taught pure Castilian Spanish, so she is well prepared. When asked to distinguish between the two types of Spanish, Miss Foster cited a story, which may simply be legend.

It seems that a Spanish king at one time happened to have a slip. So as not to sound like they were making fun of him, the people were ordered to speak as he did. The result is that many words with a "c" sound are pronounced like "th." To say "thank you," a Spaniard says "Grathes-us." In Mexico, the word is pronounced "Grathes-us."

Angry Outburst Ends Hearing For A Period

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — George M. Humphrey's defense of a multimillion dollar nickel deal with the government will be resumed on Capitol Hill after an indefinite cooling off period.

The wealthy 72-year-old Cleveland industrialist's hearing before Senate stockpile probes ended abruptly Friday after a shouting match between Humphrey and Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo.

But Symington, chairman of the Senate's special stockpile investigation, promised that Humphrey would get a chance to return.

Just before entering a hospital for a hernia operation that is expected to sideline him for several weeks, Symington told a reporter that Humphrey "or any other witness will be called to testify if this is requested by counsel or any member of the subcommittee."

But before then, Symington said subcommittee investigators and auditors will re-examine Humphrey's testimony and records of the Hanna mining complex on the much disputed $98-million nickel stockpile contracts.

Sen. Prescott Bush, R-Conn., who sharply protested Symington's refusal to let Humphrey and a squad of Hanna associates continue their testimony Friday, said in a separate interview that he would insist they be recalled later.

"Chairman Symington disregarded the rights of other members of the subcommittee and citizens who had been called as witnesses," Bush said.

Humphrey, the top executive in a chain of Hanna companies until he became secretary of the Treasury in 1953, angered Symington by telling newsmen that the inquiry is politically motivated and constitutes a "stab in the back."

Humphrey, now honorary chairman of Hanna, has told the senators his company realized a reasonable profit of $7.5 million on a contract to supply nickel to the government's stockpile of strategic metals. The contract was signed four days before the industrialist was sworn in as a member of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's cabinet.

Symington contends the Hanna company's own income tax returns show a $15-million profit and that government auditors estimate "profits and windfalls" total at least $34 million on a total production cost of $11,199,000.

2 Teachers Proposals on Nov. Ballot

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — Two proposals concerning public school teachers which will appear on the November general election ballot were discussed in detail here Thursday at the annual leaders work conference of the Arkansas Education Association.

The need for passage of Initiative Act 1 and Amendment 53 was brought home to the 350 public school officials attending the three-day conference.

Initiated Act 1 provides that 50 per cent of the state revenue will go to public schools.

The amendment allows the state treasurer to divert public school funds to maintain the teacher retirement system on a sound basis.

Forrest Rozzell, AEA executive secretary, said passage of the amendment is vital "because our retirement system is headed for financial bankruptcy."

Rozzell noted that most people think the schools already are receiving 50 per cent of the general revenue.

"But had they been receiving a maximum of 50 per cent, the schools would have received $3 million more dollars a year in the past 17 years," he added.

O. E. Roberts, AEA legislative chairman and county supervisor at Greenwood, served as moderator during the panel discussion.

He said that while support of the proposals from Gov. Orval E. Faubus would be welcomed, "regardless of his (Faubus) position, if you want these proposals badly enough, you can, as you have already demonstrated, go to the people and get these reasonable requests granted."

Joshua K. Shepard of Little Rock, chairman of the Committee for Public Schools, pointed out that demands on public schools are increasing faster than the state's economy is developing.

"Increased support from 50 per cent of the general revenue will still not be an abundance," he said.

Methodists to Visit Camp

The Methodist Campground, near Okolona, will be "invaded" Sunday evening by the host of Hope persons. A caravan of cars will leave the First Methodist Church at 4 p. m. Sunday. Those making the trip will take a picnic supper, which will be spread at the Campground, after which the group will attend the evening services. The men's choir from the local church will furnish the music.

The trip is sponsored by the Century Bible Class and they invite persons of all denominations in the city to join the caravan. Transportation and food will be available for those who do not find it convenient to make their own arrangements.

Stage Set for Showdown in Base Strike

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — The stage is set today for a showdown in a strike which has shadowed the nation's moonshot program here since Tuesday.

The Marshall Space Flight Center, representing the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Thursday night appealed to the National Labor Relations Board to go to court to break the strike.

The potential cost of the strike is $1 million a day to this country's space research and development program, Marshall officials said. And they predict the cost will increase if the stoppage continues and vital construction projects—six of them directly affecting the Saturn — fall further behind their schedules.

Local 55 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers set up pickets at three gates Tuesday, protesting employment of non-union workers by Baraco Electrical Construction Co. of Pensacola, Fla.

Most of the 1,500-building-trades employees at the Marshall Center and at the Army Missile Command have since honored the pickets.

But Baraco, subcontractor to Greenhut Construction Co. of Pensacola Greenhut and the North Alabama Contractors Association Wednesday also asked NLRB to seek an injunction to put the workers back on their jobs.

Carlton Bryan, head of a four-man NLRB investigating team which is checking into the possibility that federal labor laws are being violated, said Thursday, "there is no indication how long we will be here. I can't predict a time target."

Government officials met in urgent session at Washington to consider applying for a federal court injunction to end the picketing, but no decision was reached and an official said the situation was still under investigation.

$9.5 Million for Millwood Passes House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill appropriating $4,613,807,000 for water projects, including nearly $70 million in Arkansas was passed with little opposition in the House Thursday.

The measure, known as the Public Works Appropriation Bill, was approved by a voice vote. It now goes to the Senate for action.

The $4.6 billion compares with last year's appropriation of $3.9 billion and with President Kennedy's requested $4.7 billion.

The following amounts were appropriated for projects in Arkansas:

Construction — Arkansas River and tributaries, bank stabilization and channel rectification $18 million; Beaver Reservoir $14 million; Bull Shoals Reservoir, additions of Units 7 and 8 $2 million; Dardanelle Lock and Dam $16 million; DeGray Reservoir $1,550,000; Garland City, Red River $4,900,000; Millwood Reservoir $9,500,000.

Red River levees and bank stabilization below Denison Dam $300,000.

Planning — Arkansas River and tributaries, navigation locks and dams $2 million; DeQueen Reservoir $50,000; Gillham Reservoir $99,000; Ouachita and Black rivers $235,000; Ozark Lock and Dam $300,000.

Surveys — Fourche La Pave River $30,000; Water Valley Reservoir $30,000; White River Basin $100,000.

President In Calif. to Do Some Blasting

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif. (AP) — President Kennedy launches off 17,000 feet of dynamite charges today to break a big chunk of ground for a $511 million water project, on a trip from which the non-political lag quickly was stripped.

Here in the home state of Richard M. Nixon, Kennedy would like to do some dynamiting of the former vice president's aspirations to become governor of California.

The real activity along that line, as well as in behalf of Democrats running for Congress, will come later in the campaign. Kennedy aides are talking about an outright political trip to the West early in October.

But Kennedy already was teaming up to some extent with Nixon's current political foe, Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, the Democrat who is governor now and wants to remain governor.

The two had a conference planned at Yosemite Park today before taking off for Los Banos and the ground-breaking ceremony for the San Luis project. The project will supply water to hundreds of thousands of central California as well as to the Los Angeles-San Diego area.

Brown attended a Democratic powwow at Fresno Friday night and spent the night there.

Kennedy visited Yosemite for the first time and spent the night there, in one of the most magnificent valleys on earth.

He dined in his suite at the Ahwahnee Hotel, then watched the famed firefall from a balcony. Red embers of red fir bark cascaded from Glacier Point, 3,500 feet above the valley, down the face of a 1,000-foot cliff in a spectacle that has a 60 year tradition.

To accommodate the President, the firefall was delayed 30 minutes, and to impress him, the quantity of glowing coals was doubled or tripled.

The firefall capped a day that took Kennedy on a 2,500-mile zig-zag course across the continent by jet liner and by jet powered helicopters.

There were two stops along the way, at other water projects.

Just outside Pierre, S.D., the President drove onto the world's largest dam of packed earth—the Oahe Dam across the Missouri. It is nearly a mile thick at the base, more than a mile and three quarters long, and its 250-mile reservoir is longer than Lake Erie.

The $345 million project is part of the big Missouri River Basin development and supplies water for irrigation, flood control, navigation, power and recreation.

At Pueblo, Colo., Kennedy circled the spot where a dam and reservoir will provide one of the key features of the new Frying Pan-Arkansas project.

9,800 to Europe in Single Day

NEW YORK (AP)—A total of 9,800 passengers sailed for Europe aboard nine ocean liners Thursday, setting another record for a single day's sailing.

Last week saw the breaking of the record sailing day set in 1923.

Governor Frees Three Prisoners

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus pardoned one man Thursday and reduced the prison terms of two others.

Virgil Wingo Jr. was pardoned at the request of court officials and a law enforcement officer. Roy Lee Moody and Arnold Gene Grable had their terms reduced on recommendation of the Pardon and Parole Board.

Wingo was under a suspended five year term for assault with intent to rape. He was convicted April 30, 1959, in Conway County. The pardon was requested by Circuit Judge Audrey Strait of Morrilton, Pros. Atty. George F. Hartle Jr. of Conway and Conway County Sheriff Marlin Hawkins.

Moody, 22, and Grable, 21, both of Perryville, had their terms reduced from nine to five years. Each was convicted April 24, 1961, in Conway County for arson and grand larceny. They were charged with stripping a tractor and setting fire to what was left.

"First handball, then tennis, then a swim before lunch."

"Let's go" said Ken laughing. And away they went.

It was no time at all before they met everyone in the place. The Browns, alias Duponts, had a knack of making friends quickly.

For two weeks they had a "ball" making every second count. Easily they became the most popular couple at the vacation spot. On the last day, as they checked out one minute before supper time, and were driving back toward Jersey City, Jane sighed "I'm so utterly pined, I know this has been our best vacation ever. I thought there was a livelier gang of kids than at that Hi-Ho Camp, last year."

Ken yawned, "Yeah, nice bunch of kids on the whole. Although I still think I should have belted that loud-mouthed slob. And the dizzy babe. I'm tired too, be rugged getting back to the office grind."

"I feel as bushed as I did after Camp Lake-O, took me a week to get back to normal that time. Oh we had a roaring ball! That Dupont handle was fun, too."

"Why thank you, Mrs. Dupont."

Ken and Jane were already looking back on the camp with a delicate touch of nostalgia, as they did ever year on leaving a different camp.

Being veterans, they knew exactly what camp life would be like, were never disappointed. Of course, during the first few years they had been bothered in the winter months by camp pals who suddenly turned up as salesmen, or the camp cut-ups who wanted to party all winter.

Being experienced campers now, the Browns had worked out all the tiny details. Not only the right amount of clothing, but using a phony name was such a simple way of ending the vacation during the summer, never being bothered again by temporary friends and pests.

THE END

Appropriations to Be Processed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus has indicated he may tie together existing farm and market programs by setting up a state Department of Agriculture.

Faubus said Thursday he had given some thought to recommendations he may make to the 1963 legislature.

Without overlooking the fact that he must defeat Republican Willis Ricketts of Fayetteville in the November general election, Faubus said he doesn't want to create another agency.

"I want to co-ordinate the efforts of all of the agencies involved in helping the farmers," he said, "These agencies could be divisions with overall direction, working together for the benefit of the public."

Faubus said improving the farm economy and putting more emphasis on the state role in tourism and recreation are programs he wants speeded up.

After eight years in office, Faubus said he has noticed a need for more emphasis on the marketing of farm products. The Arkansas Industrial Development Commission has said it believes such a need exists, too.

Has Own Ideas of How to Strike

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"If you got to strike," said the truck driver sitting in a leather chair under a beach umbrella, "this is the only way."

A nonstriking office employee of the W. E. Cooper Lumber Co. brought him a glass of cold water in the 90-degree afternoon temperature.

The walkout started Thursday when the Teamsters Union ordered its five driver members at Cooper to strike in a contract dispute. The drivers balked.

"We like our boss," said a spokesman for the reluctant strikers. "None of us wants to picket the company."

But William G. Cooper, vice president of the firm, told them: "If you got to picket, you got to picket. That's all."

To prove there were no hard feelings, he furnished the men a beach umbrella, comfortable seats, portable air conditioners, a television set and a radio and set them up in front of his business.

The dispute—involving about 350 other lumber drivers striking at other firms in Los Angeles over sick leave, holidays and pay raises. Details were not available.

No Emotional Disturbance in Sight

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's not normal.

An American election campaign begins soon, for seats in Congress. And there's not an explosion or a deep, distracting emotional disturbance in sight.

History says this can't last. There has been some surging or disquieting situation before each election going all the way back to 1948 when President Truman defeated Thomas E. Dewey.

In the midst of the presidential campaign that year the United States was trying to break the Berlin blockade — not knowing where it would end — which the Russians had begun in the spring.

By the time of the 1950 congressional elections the United States was at war in Korea while here at home the country was being split apart on the Communist issue raised by Sen. Joseph McCarthy.

And, on top of that, just a few days before the election a couple of assassins tried to kill Truman.

The Korean War was still going on its sickening way, like a grisly ghost in the background, by the time of the 1952 presidential race.

Republicans made it a central issue and Dwight D. Eisenhower promised, if he beat Adlai Stevenson, to go to Korea. He won and went.

There was no foreign crisis during the 1954 congressional campaign—the Korean War was over then—but there was an extraordinary distraction, with a deep emotional undercurrent, here at home.

The censure proceedings against McCarthy were being held and, after the elections, resulted in his condemnation by the Senate.

But there was a shocking explosion in the midst of the 1956 presidential contest between Eisenhower and Stevenson. In fact, most of it happened just a few days before the election.

The British-French-Israeli attack on Egypt began, the Hungarians revolted, and Russia moved in and smashed the revolt.

Calm of a kind enveloped the 1958 congressional campaign, but it was far from complete. The Red Chinese were bombarding the offshore islands of the American ally, Chiang Kai-shek, and no one could be sure of the outcome.

There was just a little national uneasiness.

In 1960, except for the developing chaos in the Congo, all the explosions, and there never had

True Love is Possible for Teens!

By HELEN WOODEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Older people often scoff about a deep love being possible when one is very young. I am 16 and a widow. My husband, Drennan, was only 19 and I would soon be 16 when we were married, yet ours was as true a love as ever you will find.

We spent our two-day honeymoon in his parents' cabin on the river. Those two days and the two months we spent as man and wife were the most glorious on earth. We lived in a house trailer these two months but to us the trailer was heaven. We'd been saving for a home and started building. It stands today, half-finished.

The terrible thing that came and took Drennan from me was death, on the second day of the third month of our marriage. He was killed in a car-train accident on his way home from work. As of yet, no one knows how it happened. I was preparing supper, wholly made up of Drennan's favorite dishes when a friend phoned and haltingly told of the tragedy.

They tell me I screamed, as one in deep, agonizing pain. It was and is still the sharpest pain I ever expect to experience. I don't know what I did—all I know is that I realized two things — I would never feel Drennan's strong young arms holding me again and that somewhere he was lying dead. The same friend who phoned found me on the floor of our trailer next to our bed, sobbing hysterically, uncontrollably.

Somewhere I reached the scene of the terrible accident. In the newspaper next morning I read that I cradled Drennan's bloody body in my arms and kissed and rocked him as a baby. I'm glad I can't remember those moments, for I never want to remember Drennan anyway other than the way he looked that morning when he kissed me goodbye—our last goodbye.

I'm still very young and much of my life is ahead of me but such a great part was buried with my darling two weeks ago. Such a beautiful love striving to be satisfied and fulfilled in such a short, but sacred time. We two teenagers loved with a love that was known to few. Farewell, my darling Drennan! — No Name, Daville, Ala.

My dear: In one sense there is no answer. Yet, in another there is. Ask the people of your town to agitate for a road guard at the crossing where Drennan died. Or, if there is a guard, an overpass, so that others may be saved from Drennan's tragic fate.

Can't Always Forecast Business

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass. — While on a recent vacation I have been relaxed and able to think at length about certain fundamentals of investing for safety and profits.

After years of intensive study and the spending of millions of dollars in statistical research, I have learned certain things: (1) It is impossible for any man or group of men to accurately forecast business conditions so as to justify the investing of all of one's money in any one way, or in any one class of security, or in any one company or industry; (2) investors who decide to buy even depressed issues should always distribute their funds over several securities and be ready to undergo disappointment if some of them do not do well. Yes, many stocks at times are classified as "depressed", but eventually turn out to be valuable.

Emphasis should also be placed on the importance of the well-known axiom, "He profits most who serves best." It is possible to make large profits in connection with investments; but to be in a position to keep these profits without undue risk, the investor should have for his primary objective the rendering of service. This especially applies to the buying of "depressed" stocks even when few have the courage to do so. When money or effort is directed properly so that society and economic law will unite to reward the investor, he is on safe ground. When a man attempts to profit in any business without a desire to render commensurate service, he is a foolish gambler. In fact, this question of service forms the line of demarcation between investing and gambling.

My mind is now filled with several other thoughts. We are living in a new world. Authority and responsibility have been focused at Washington, while the whole world lives in the fear of a new, totally destructive war. Since 1931 all has been in the melting pot: currencies, credits, debts, exchanges, gifts, taxes, banks, corporations, laws, liens, and licenses. Much of the world is ruled ruthlessly by self-appointed Communist party leaders. Familiar landmarks are gone. New Administrations can only moderate or speed up the journey ahead. Whether these paths will lead to glory or to grief, no man now can say. There is but one certainty. The old ways have temporarily, at least, been laid upon the shelf.

The President can provide new heads but not new hearts. Furthermore, Newton's Law of Action and Reaction, the Theory of Relativity, and the Law of Diversification will continue to influence economic phenomena. There can not long be human dictatorship over fundamentals. Therefore, in the midst of radical ideas and reactions to them, hold fast to the old ideals—the ideals of service and reward, of patient probing for facts, of constant flexibility to changing conditions, of timely caution and courage.

Administrations can be changed, new legislation can be enacted; the Constitution can be amended; the map of the world can be altered; but the basic laws of economics will continue to rule. Now, investment opportunities may lie in some of the "depressed" securities. Having already declined from relatively high price levels, they should be less vulnerable to further marked declines, and I believe they offer the best opportunity to invest for safety, for profit, and perhaps for income.

But avoid new companies, especially if in the electronics field. Insist that a company have at least five years of earnings to compare. And—most important of all—use your own brains. Do not depend upon rumors or tips.

New Reserve Branch at L. R.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board apparently will build a new branch bank in place of the Little Rock Bank already existing in Little Rock, Ark.

A document placed in the Congressional Record by Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., says the board plans to spend $1,300,000 for a new branch building at Little Rock.

The money obviously would not be enough to build a new building. The Reserve Board announced plans to spend $2 million to remodel the present structure in Little Rock, but speculation is that the money will be added to the $1,300,000 to build a new branch office.

been anything like them, burst before the presidential race.

But the reverberations hung over the campaign.

It was in that year, in the spring that the Soviets shot down the American U2 spy plane over Russia, capturing the pilot, Francis Gary Powers.

And right on top of that, and because of that, Premier Khrushchev insulted Eisenhower, broke up his summit conference with him, and called off the American President's scheduled trip to Russia.

Up till now in 1962 nothing has happened to jitter the American nervous system—no crisis, no explosion, no emotional issue—at home or abroad.

The recent Soviet achievement—putting two men into orbit at the same time—had no crisis, no threats, no tension for Americans. It was simply a performance.

Injuries Fatal to Child, 5

HUNTSVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Debra Ann Smith, 5, died Tuesday in a Huntsville hospital of injuries suffered Monday when a car driven by her older brother ran over her.

State Trooper James Cottrell said Larry Dean Smith, 18, the brother, had been working on the family car and was running it backward and forward in the driveway to test it.

The girl hopped a ride on the back bumper and fell under a rear wheel, Cottrell said.

40 Communist Rebels Killed

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Government ground, air and sea forces have killed 40 Communist Viet Cong guerrillas and captured 60 more in a massive operation in mangrove swamps at the southern tip of Viet Nam, military sources reported today.

The operation began at dawn Wednesday in Ca Mau Province. It was reported still under way today.

Government casualties so far were not reported.

About 3,000 government troops were reported bombing the mangrove swamps, supported by fighter planes and naval craft operating through the rivers and canals of the region near the coast.

Communists Loot Leper Colony

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Communist Viet Cong guerrillas looted a leper colony at bayonet point Thursday night, taking all medicines plus the personal effects of seven nuns, the Catholic Relief Services reported today. The scene was St. Joseph's Ben San leprosarium 25 miles outside Saigon.

Roy Keeley, area coordinator for the FAA here, said all automobiles owned and operated by the agency in the southern region will be equipped with seat belts.

Injuries Fatal to Arkansan

HARRISON, Ark. (AP)—Paul Benjamin Martin, 74, of Harrison, died Thursday in Springfield, Mo., of injuries suffered in an automobile accident last Friday near Mount Vernon, Mo.

The Missouri Highway Patrol said Martin's car collided with a car driven by Stanley Marsh of Mount Vernon at the junction of U.S. Highway 16 and Missouri State Highway 39.

Martin's wife, Ruth Lewis Martin, 62, and his daughter, Mary Adele Martin, 46, of Harrison, also were injured. They were returning home from a visit to a daughter in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Missile Explodes After Launching

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Polaris missile exploded a few seconds after launching today. Flaming pieces fell back on the Cape, starting a large brush fire but no injuries or damage to facilities resulted.

The 31-foot rocket leaped off a land launching pad and almost immediately blew apart, scattering fiery debris. One large chunk landed in the Atlantic about 130 yards offshore.

The missile was a Polaris A2 model testing components for the longer-range A3 rocket. It was the fourth time in the last seven launchings that a similarly modified A2 blew up in flight.

The French explorers, Marie Curie and Joliet, visited Indian villages at the mouth of the Arkansas River in the summer of 1873.

U. S. Recognizes Peru Government

LIMA, Peru (AP)—The United States recognized Peru's military government today.

The United States suspended relations July 18 after a military junta took over and U.S. Ambassador James Loeb was called home.

Renewal of diplomatic ties has been forecast for the past week or so and informants said Thursday night the resumption would be announced today.

Diplomatic relations, along with $81 million in U.S. aid, were suspended to underscore Washington's disapproval of the ouster of a civilian government by the military. In the interim, U.S. officials sought evidence that the new regime would pursue democratic ways.

The junta here promised to hold free elections next June and said it would allow the president then elected to take office. It also allowed a measure of civil liberties and gave liberty to opposition political leaders.

Fire Destroys River Towboat

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP)—Fire Tuesday night destroyed the Virginia, a large towboat operated on the Ouachita River by the Hanson Towing Co.

The boat caught fire near Moro Bay, 20 miles below Lock and Dam 8 on the Ouachita, according to H. K. Thatcher, executive vice president of the Ouachita River Valley Association.

The Virginia had been towing a 530-ton cargo upstream for the International Paper Co. It was the only one operated by the company and was partially covered by insurance.

PSC Again Favorable to Gas Firm

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The city of El Dorado, rebuffed Thursday in its fight against rate increases by Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co., indicated a re-hearing by the Public Service Commission would be sought.

The PSC Thursday dismissed a complaint by El Dorado against the escalator clause used by Arkla for rate increases.

Also dismissed was a request by the city to have a public hearing on the matter.

The PSC said Thursday that after studying the matter it felt it in the public interest to grant the Arkla motion for dismissal.

El Dorado City Attorney J. V. Spencer said he would file a petition for a rehearing before the PSC and if turned down, would appeal to Pulaski Circuit Court.

The escalator clause in question allows Arkla to automatically pass on its increased costs to its customers.

A complaint by El Dorado and several other cities against Arkla's minimum rate previously was turned down by the PSC. This is on appeal to the Arkansas Supreme Court.

In other action Thursday the PSC: Reallocated a portion of Woodruff County territory of Southwest Bell Telephone Co. to General Telephone Co.

Set a hearing for Sept. 5 on application of Rice Belt Telephone Co. for permission to borrow $55,000 from General Dynamics Corp.

Also set a hearing for Sept. 5 on a request by Green Forest Telephone Co. which seeks to borrow $540,000 from the Rural Electrification Administration.

SKILLED BOAT HANDLING BIG FACTOR IN SKIING

By WM. TAYLOR MCKEOWN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When Mrs. Kennedy on water skis lashed across the newsweek screen, the camera seldom takes time to show the boat pulling her. But the driver of any tow boat can control the success and safety of the skier skimming along behind.

Driving skill shows up as soon as the tow skipper gets ready to start. The driver should have an observer seated beside him facing aft, and a wide-angle rear view mirror as well. He must be sure the tow line is straight and not wrapped around the skier. The line should be between the skier and the skier should lift both forward ski tips above the water.

With clear water ahead and no swimmers about, the driver speeds up smoothly and rapidly. A slow, timid start will drag the skier along the surface without getting him upright; an abrupt start will flip him forward on his face. A speedometer reading of 12 to 18 miles an hour is considered best for beginners.

Sharp turns by the driver will put slack in the line and trip the skier as it becomes suddenly taut again. Slowing down should be gradual for the same reason.

The expert driver will react quickly to the skier's signals: Thumb up for more speed. Thumb down for slower speed. Hand raised for stop. Thumb and forefinger circle for speed OK.

Vertical palm moved off right or left to indicate turn direction. Finger across throat to show driver should cut motor.

Once the skier spills, the driver will circle back while watching for a raised ski to indicate the skier is all right.

For faster maneuvers and jumps, the driver will be towing at up to 35 miles an hour. At these speeds he must take special care to watch ahead for driftwood, swimmers, or even skin divers in the area.

And when the skier takes a high speed spill, the driver should circle back immediately. A hard smack into the water can knock the wind out of the skier, and the experts now wear belt-type life preservers.

Once a skiing beginner gains confidence he may start showing off. Again it is up to the driver to stay well enough out from beaches, shallows, and other craft so that the skier's wide turns will not come near them, and if he should let go of the line to whip off toward them he will lose speed and sink before he hits the shore.

The careful driver will stop before the skier gets overly tired. Skillful driving can keep water skiing a safe sport.

Marilyn Left Half Million

NEW YORK (AP)—Marilyn Monroe's will, filed for probate today, left an estate estimated in excess of half a million dollars. The blonde screen star died Aug. 4 of an overdose of sleeping pills.

The will, executed here on Jan. 14, 1961, was filed in New York County Surrogate's Court.

It created a $100,000 trust fund to provide $5,000 a year for the maintenance and support of Miss Monroe's mother, Gloriys Baker, who is in an institution.

The trust also provided for $2,500 a year for the maintenance and support of Mrs. Michael Chekhov, a friend and mentor of the actress.

The balance remaining in the trust after the death of Mrs. Baker and Mrs. Chekhov is to go to Dr. Marianne Kris, "to be used by her for the furtherance of the work of such psychiatric institutions or groups as she shall elect."

Is The Lord Our God

HOW MUCH

— Am I Really Worth? Exactly what do I weigh? Am I heavier than my money, or, is it getting the best of me? The all-important question is — when God puts me on the balances — will the weight hand deceive Him? If all a man has to offer the world is his body created in God's image — his chemical composition — his dead weight...then that man is of little value to himself, to humanity, to God. Mister, don't try to analyze your worth by pointing to the pile of silver you control. No one grows bigger when he says "no" to the varied opportunities he has to serve God. Far better to say, "silver and gold have I none," if I am given to serving God, helping the lost to find their way to a place of worship...to His church.
